

Béziers / Sète

Mediterranean Cycle Route

From Béziers's port, the Canal du Midi à Vélo route directs you back to the Med. From Roque Haute bridge, you can easily access Portiragnes Beach by bike to enjoy a refreshing dip. Also stop to admire Le Libron's curious adjustable aqueduct and Agde's circular lock. Agde Cathedral, with its bell-tower dominating the Hérault River, calls on visitors to explore the ancient city below, built from black basalt. The Canal du Midi merges with the Etang de Thau lagoon at the level of Les Onglous lighthouse. From Marseillan-Plage, Le Lido Greenway sticks to the Mediterranean, leading you to Sète and its museums. How long will you resist the call of the sea for a swim along this stretch?

It is advisable to request written authorization to cycle across these parts from VNF, the managing authority, in accordance with Article R4241-68 of the French Code des Transports.

The route

The first part of this stage offers very easy cycling. It's followed by a section along a towpath. From Roque Haute bridge, signposts are few and far between. The portion between Agde and Marseillan-Plage is not specifically laid out, but then you join a greenway parallel to the sea as far as your arrival at the port of Sète.

Smooth surfaces: surfaces are generally easy to cycle along between Agde and Sète.

Rough surfaces: on the track between Béziers and Agde.

Please note:

It is advisable to request written authorization to cycle across these parts from VNF, the managing authority, in accordance with Article R4241-68 of the French Code des Transports.
